INTRODUCTION

Recognizing the need for specialized supports for victims of domestic violence and their children, the New York State Domestic Violence Prevention Act became law in 1987. This law requires social service districts to provide shelter and services to victims of domestic violence regardless of their financial eligibility and establishes mainstream funding mechanisms for these programs.

As a result of the Domestic Violence Prevention Act, regulations were created to:

- promote standards for the establishment and maintenance of residential and non-residential domestic violence programs, and
- establish social services district responsibility for financial and contractual arrangements with providers of domestic violence residential services.

These regulations (18 NYCRR Parts 452-455, 462 and 408) can be found on the New York State Office of Children and Family Services' (OCFS) website:

- <http://www.ocfs.state.ny.us/main/dv/regulations.asp>

The domestic violence service system is the result of many public and private partnerships, both formal and informal. The primary responsibilities of the OCFS in relation to the domestic violence service delivery system are:

- licensing residential programs for victims of domestic violence;
- overseeing the county planning process as it relates to the approval of non-residential domestic violence services programs;
- establishing the per diem rate of reimbursement for each approved residential program on an annual basis;
- administering the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) non-residential domestic violence funds to the social services districts and the Federal Family Violence Prevention and Services Act (FFVPSA) funds to approved residential and non-residential domestic violence providers;
- providing Title XX financial reimbursement to social services districts for residential and non-residential domestic violence services; and
- monitoring and providing technical assistance to social services districts and approved residential and non-residential programs for victims of domestic violence.

Annual Report Background

The Domestic Violence Prevention Act requires an annual report to the Governor and Legislature regarding implementation of the act.

Three categories of programs are included in the Domestic Violence Prevention Act:

- Non-Residential Programs for Victims of Domestic Violence – not-for-profit organizations or public agencies providing telephone hotline assistance, information, referral, counseling, advocacy, community education and outreach services. Seventy percent (70%) of the population served by each program must be victims of domestic violence.

- Residential Programs for Victims of Domestic Violence – as defined below, and
- Transitional Housing Services – programs that have emerged to address the longer-term housing and service needs of victims of domestic violence after leaving emergency residential programs. These programs developed as a result of inadequate housing options, coupled with the continued need for support services beyond the emergency shelter stay. They are not defined in the Domestic Violence Prevention Act or Domestic Violence Program Regulations nor regulated or monitored by OCFS.

The Domestic Violence Program Regulations (18 NYCRR Parts 452-455) define four types of Residential Programs for Victims of Domestic Violence:

- Domestic Violence Shelters - congregate facilities of ten beds or more for victims of domestic violence and their children only;
- Domestic Violence Programs - similar to shelters except that up to thirty percent (30%) of the residents may be other than victims of domestic violence;
- Safe Dwellings - self contained units of nine beds or less for domestic violence victims and their children only; and
- Safe Home Networks - clusters of private homes providing emergency services and shelter to victims of domestic violence coordinated by a not-for-profit organization.

I. 2010 Annual Report Statistical Requirements

In response to the statistical requirements of the Domestic Violence Annual Report, OCFS manages a web-based Domestic Violence Information System (DVIS) which addresses the required reporting elements under the purview of OCFS. The system is accessible to all of the approved domestic violence providers in the state.

The following section of the report is the compilation of data for calendar year 2010, collected as of February 2011.

Summary of 2010 Statistics:

- There were 165 domestic violence residential programs licensed by OCFS with a total of 3,033 beds and 86 approved non-residential programs
- Approximately 185,000 Domestic Violence (DV) crisis/hotline calls were received by individual providers across the state*
- Approximately 15,500 adults and children received domestic violence residential services
- Approximately 47,000 adults and children received domestic violence non-residential services
- Approximately 1,030 adults and children entered domestic violence transitional housing
- Approximately 14,600 adults and 17,400 children were denied shelter in 2010

* from September 2009-September 2010.

II. Funding For Approved Domestic Violence Programs

On an annual basis, OCFS collects comprehensive financial information from all approved residential programs. Financial information is not collected from non-residential programs that are not associated with a residential program. Due to the established time frames for the submittal of cost reports for rate setting purposes, the financial information presented in the annual report is lagged by one year. As a result, the financial data contained in this annual report is the most current published information available and reported by domestic violence providers for fiscal periods ending in 2009.

Total Residential and Non-Residential Program Revenues (2009)
	Residential Programs	Non-Residential Programs
Government Revenue	$77,587,770	$45,314,564
Private Revenue	$5,035,248	$8,148,099
Total	$82,623,018	$53,462,663

Total Residential and Non-Residential Program Expenses (2009)
	Residential Programs	Non-Residential Programs
Personnel Expenses	$50,558,104	$35,359,984
Non-Personnel Expenses	$31,771,331	$15,832,383
Total	$82,329,435	$51,192,367

- Revenues from government sources include per diems and government grants (typically from OCFS, the New York State Division of Criminal Justice Services, New York State Crime Victims Board, federal grants allocated by social services districts, plus other residual grants).
- Residential revenue increased from 2008 to 2009 by $5,291,534, a 6.8% increase.
- Non-residential revenue increased from 2008 to 2009 by $681,910, a 1.3% increase. 2007-08 NYC non-residential revenue was revised upon review and detection of a missing agency report ($7.2M).
- Sources of private revenue include the United Way, private donations, interest income and miscellaneous income.
- Personal service costs (expenditures for administration and staffing) include direct services staff, executive and supervisory staff, as well as other staff providing direct support functions.
- Non-personal service costs are also reflected in the amounts shown and typically include rent, mortgage, travel, printing and postage, supplies, equipment, telephone, utility, other variable maintenance costs and miscellaneous shelter expenses.

Annually, OCFS is responsible for establishing the per diem flat rate for reimbursement for bed nights utilized for each residential program. Social service districts contract with residential programs at the established per diem flat rate (see Appendix B for per diem flat rates). The fund sources are acquired through public assistance funding streams and paid to providers through the social services districts based on a person's eligibility. Where a resident is not eligible for public assistance reimbursement, Title XX funds may be available. If a social service district has exhausted its Title XX funds, state and local funds are available. The primary funding source for non-residential programs is through individually negotiated contracts with the social services district using Title XX funds.

In addition to the Title XX and temporary assistance reimbursements, OCFS administers Federal Family Violence Prevention and Services Act funds and TANF non-residential funds, as described below:

Federal Family Violence Prevention and Services Act (FFVPSA) Funds

OCFS is responsible for administering FFVPSA funds, which are allocated to states on an annual basis in accordance with a population driven formula. NYS receives approximately $4 million annually, 5% of which supports OCFS administrative expenses. In response to provider financial viability challenges, FFVPSA funds are administered equally to all approved residential and non-residential domestic violence programs in the state on a non-competitive basis. In 2010, each of the 95 applicants was eligible to receive an award of up to $38,808. Based on the application submitted, contracts were developed for the period of March 31, 2010, to March 30, 2011. Funds are used to support general operating expenses, health and safety improvements, and/or program enhancements.

The following outcomes were reported by FFVPSA funded projects:

Out of 11,890 client satisfaction surveys completed:*

- 88% of DV victims report increased knowledge of strategies for enhancing their safety
- 88% of DV victims report increased knowledge of available community resources.

*from September 2009-September 2010.

Child Protective/Domestic Violence Collaborative Projects

There is evidence that when child abuse/maltreatment exists in a family there is a high probability that domestic violence is also occurring. The OCFS Child and Family Services Review data reports note DV as the most frequently reported risk factor in indicated Child Protective Services (CPS) reports between January 2009-June 2009.

In 2010, FFVPSA funding was used to continue the existing Child Protective/Domestic Violence collaboration projects. The purpose of these initiatives is to improve joint case practice, thereby increasing safety and reducing recurrence. In each of the eleven projects, a domestic violence advocate is co-located at the CPS office and typically provides case consultation, participates in home visits and cross training, and works jointly with case workers to develop safety plans with victims of domestic violence and their children. Domestic Violence (DV) and CPS staff also participate in workgroups to case conference and to develop joint case practice protocols. Protocols typically include screening tools and joint casework practice guidelines.

The projects are currently supported with $824,000 of FFVPSA funding. While sustainability continues to challenge the collaborations, several local social service districts have recognized the benefits of these projects and picked up the cost of additional DV advocates to work at CPS. The benefits include increased support for CPS workers with cases involving DV, cross training and better awareness of services available for adult victims, and more positive outcomes for the families and children served.

The following are the currently funded agencies/counties:

- Allegany County Community Opportunities and Rural Development Corp.
- Chances & Changes, Inc. (Livingston County)
- Equinox, Inc. (Albany County)
- My Sister's Place (Westchester County)
- Nassau County Coalition Against Domestic Violence
- Orange County Safe Homes, Inc.
- Oswego County Opportunities, Inc.
- S.O.S. Shelter (Broome County)
- Unity House of Troy (Rensselaer County)
- Vera House Inc., Syracuse, NY (Onondaga County)
- Victims Information Bureau of Suffolk, Inc. (Suffolk County)

Results from these projects have included an improvement in CPS workers' ability to recognize DV and more appropriately intervene. At the same time, DV workers are learning more about CPS mandates and responsibilities and how to intervene in child abuse cases. Workers in both arenas report that improved relationships have contributed to more safety and self-sufficiency options for families experiencing both child abuse and domestic violence.

In 2010, approximately 1,700 families received specialized services through the CPS/DV collaboration projects.* Below are process and outcome measures:

- Approximately 970 families served jointly by CPS and DV advocates
 - 240 were visited jointly in the home
 - 153 were visited jointly outside of the home
 - 710 were joint consultations
- Of the 311 reports indicated, in 84% of the cases the child(ren) remained safely with the non-offending parent
- Of the 233 reports with unfounded allegations of child abuse or maltreatment, 92% of the families were able to access necessary supports and services

*Utilization numbers calculated based on six of the 11 agencies reporting, all given equal weight. This is due to differing reporting periods resulting in a lack of 12 months of data from each project at the time of printing.

TANF Funding for Non-Residential Domestic Violence Services

Each year since 2001, $3 million of dedicated federal funds have been administered through OCFS and the Office of Temporary and Disability Assistance (OTDA) for the provision of Non-Residential Domestic Violence Services, with the exception of SFY 2006-2007, when the funding was made available through the Flexible Fund for Family Services (FFFS). In 2010, this funding was reduced to $1.44 million. As in past years, the funds were allocated to local social service districts based on program needs and expenditure histories. The funds are used for enhanced or expanded core and/or optional Non-Residential Domestic Violence Services provided by approved Non-Residential Domestic Violence Programs only for persons with incomes up to 200% of the poverty level. In the vast majority of cases, local social service districts have contracted with OCFS approved Non-Residential Domestic Violence Providers operated by local not-for-profit agencies. Non-Residential Domestic Violence services provided with this funding have included enhanced case management, legal advocacy, support groups, employment assistance, transportation, and permanent housing assistance.

III. Domestic Violence Program Events

Programs Opened/Closed in 2010

- In March, Homeless and Travelers Aid Society in Albany County closed their non-residential program.
- Lang House at Safe Horizon, Inc. opened in November. It is a 20 bed shelter opened to meet the increasing need for DV beds in the NYC metropolitan area.

Programs in Danger of Closing in 2010

- Community Action Agency of Franklin County is in danger of closing its domestic violence program due to financial instability.

IV. Additional Initiatives

In addition to the ongoing responsibilities of the DV Prevention Act, several other initiatives were undertaken in 2010 to continue to enhance supports for victims and their children in NYS:

- The OCFS regional office in New York City sponsored a one day forum in October 2010 entitled “Love Without Pain, Working with Families Across Systems.” Co-sponsors of the event included New York State domestic violence providers, community organizations, NYC Administration for Children’s Services and NYC Human Resource Administration. The forum included workshops on DV in the elderly, teen dating abuse, working with the Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgendered and Questioning community, human trafficking, immigration and technology in relationships.
- Using the data available in DVIS, a “profile” has been developed for each county for 2010, providing information about the approved residential and non residential programs in the county as well as data and trends related to occupancy rates and length of stay. This information is shared with local social service districts and other stakeholders to assist in assessing gaps and needs.
- OCFS continued to co-facilitate the Domestic Violence Regulatory Workgroup with the Office for the Prevention of Domestic Violence (OPDV) and the Office for Temporary and Disability Assistance (OTDA). The workgroup includes domestic violence program and local social service district representatives, the purpose of which is to re-assess the regulations and to make recommendations for improvements aligned to current issues and practices.

- OCFS collaborated with OPDV to develop curriculum to train child protective supervisors across the state to help support caseworkers in serving families impacted by child abuse and DV. This training will compliment the OCFS contracted mandated training OPDV currently provides for child protective services caseworkers.
- OCFS participated in the OPDV and Office of Victims' Services Advisory Council and related subcommittees.
- The 3rd annual OCFS "Purple Day" was conducted on October 26, 2010, in celebration of National Domestic Violence Awareness Month. All OCFS employees were encouraged to support domestic violence awareness by wearing purple to work, and staff from the Domestic Violence Unit manned display tables, answering questions and disseminating literature.
- A three-part training curriculum was offered for OCFS Regional Office DV licensing staff to support the quality of OCFS technical assistance and support. The training was presented using I-Linc, a distance learning technology, to accommodate statewide needs. The training included information about putting the regulations into practice, establishing new per diem rates, confidentiality, child abuse and maltreatment reporting, and local department of social services district responsibilities.
- As a result of the new reporting requirements for the Federal Family Violence Prevention Act funding, the Domestic Violence Information System (DVIS) was upgraded to include the required elements. This should be completed by early next year so data for the upcoming federal annual reports can be collected electronically.
- Technical assistance is provided through a variety of sources to all residential and non-residential domestic violence programs. Through its home and regional offices, OCFS staff provides on-site monitoring and technical assistance in program and policy development, as well as in licensing, financial and contract issues. OCFS often collaborates with staff from the OTDA to assist with reimbursement and local district responsibility issues. Also, OCFS contracts with OPDV to provide training and technical assistance to local social service districts and providers. The effects of the technical assistance have included improved quality of services, improved documentation of program impacts and improved coordination among stakeholders.
